Queen's BUSINESS
LAW CLINIC

Objective

Queen's Business Law Clinic (QBLC) was established to assist people and organizations who could not otherwise afford legal services. Many entrepreneurs and small businesses have a limited budget with which to launch or carry on their initiatives. In many cases, these people and organizations have not even budgeted for legal fees - and yet legal work may be crucial for their projects to succeed.

QBLC operates year-round from the Queen's Faculty of Law to provide pro bono legal services to small businesses, start-ups and non-profit organizations in the Kingston community and throughout Eastern Ontario that would not otherwise be able to retain legal counsel to assist them in their operations. QBLC is also an opportunity for selected students to learn valuable legal practice skills while working on client files and managing the clinic.
